ROME, April 13.—Relations between Italy and Greece and moves of the Anglo-French entente occupied the center of Rome's diplomatic stage today as Premier Mussolini prepared to confer with his government agencies.

With Italian troops concentrated at Koriza, Albania—gateway to Greece and the strategic Dardanelles—II Duce ordered the Fascist grand council to meet at 10 p. m. (4 p. m. E. S. T.).

Cabinet To Meet Tomorrow
Tomorrow the council of ministers (cabinet) will hold an emergency meeting, and on Saturday there will be sessions of the chamber of corporations and the senate.

Keen speculation arose in diplomatic circles as to whether this series of official gatherings will result in a reply by Mussolini to British and French moves in the Mediterranean, the Balkans and eastern Europe.

At the same time, it was believed Mussolini may soon take an opportunity to announce that his Fascist empire has moved forward another step with King-Emperor Victor Emmanuel taking over the crown of occupied Albania.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Quite pertinent, is the statement on a church bulletin board, in the Croton district. "It is easier to be critical than to be correct," by Disraeli, a former British prime minister.

Work of repairing the Graceland road, which runs past Graceland cemetery, joining the Rindt road east of Highland Heights, is being completed. A stone base was put in last year, and is being covered with an earth top.

According to old timers, early onions in order to be real good, have to have a coating of snow, so Pa New presumes that yesterday's downfall could be referred to as a peculiar day, at any rate. One minute a rather blizzard would be raging and the next minute, the sun would shine. At 11:30 o'clock last night, a real snow storm started. The winter had turned colder and was below the freezing mark and the snow stayed on the ground. Street department employees got out and ashed the more dangerous hills. The highways were just as slippery as at any time last winter, but a warm sun soon melted the snow off this morning.

Although it is nearly mid-April there were real wintry conditions early this morning, even to slippery streets and frozen radiators. It was necessary for the street department to ash some of the hills, which were rather icy due to a snowfall during the night. Several radiators were noted steaming, an evidence that the owners thought the winter was over. Temperature got down around 20 during the early morning.

President Signs Bill To Tax Public Workers

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 13.—President Roosevelt has signed the bill providing for reciprocal taxation of federal, state, city and county employees of the nation, the White House announced today.

The new law will bring nearly 4,000,000 public workers and officials within reach of the nation's income tax collectors.

The way toward taxing of government employees was cleared by a supreme court decision holding that workers of the federal government are subject to state taxes, and abandoning a century-old legal theory that they are immune from taxation.

Citizens' Advisory Council Selects Round As Chairman

Officers to head up the newly-elected citizen's advisory council of the Greater New Castle Association in its first year were chosen when members of the council held their organization meeting in The Castle-ton last night.

Louis B. Round was named chairman, P. J. Flaherty, first vice chairman, Robert A. Weingartner, second vice chairman and Bernard N. Hanlon, secretary.

Opening the two-hour session of the advisory group was Norman E. Clark, president of the GNCA board of directors. He conducted the council election. Then Round and Flaherty shared the presiding officer's duties.

Twenty Five Present
With 25 of its 36 members present, the council received from President Clark and other officers a general report of what has already been done by the directors, who chose their officers last week. Ask Funds For Work On Canal

WASHINGTON, April 13.—An appeal for federal funds to start work on the Beaver-Mahoning canal, which would connect the Ohio river and Lake Erie, was laid before President Roosevelt today by Rep. Michael J. Kirwan and William P. Maag, publishers of the Youngstown Vindicator.

Kirwan pointed out that the project had been authorized several years ago at a total cost of $200,000. He and Maag said they proposed today that a $38,000,000 allocation would enable a start on the work between Rochester, Pa., and Struthers, O.

The Youngstown congressmen said their conference with the president was "very pleasant."

Sutherland May Get State Post

HARRISBURG, April 13.—Dr. John B. (Jock) Sutherland, former University of Pittsburgh football coach, has been tendered the directorship of oral hygiene in the state department of public health, it was admitted today by a source close to Gov. Arthur H. James. The post pays $4,500.

Sutherland has been invited to visit Harrisburg on Monday to discuss the appointment with Secretary of Health Dr. John B. Shaw. Dr. Sutherland, who holds a degree of doctor of dental surgery, taught dentistry at the University of Pittsburgh before he engaged in professional coaching.

He is one of the nation's best known gridiron mentors.

BUSINESS INCREASE THIS YEAR SO FAR

In an informal talk to over a hundred members of the Baltimore & Ohio Veterans Association and Auxiliary in the Legion Home, last night, W. C. Baker of Akron, superintendent of the Akron-Chicago Division, spoke in an optimistic vein concerning the business outlook for the year, providing the soft coal situation clears up.

Mr. Baker pointed out that in the first quarter there was an 11 per cent business increase. He said that unless the coal strike continues, there is no reason why the increase should not be a steady one over the remaining quarters. He termed the (Continued On Page Two)

Commencing in September 1939, the salaries of school teachers in New Castle school district will be paid monthly for the twelve months of the year instead of during the nine month school term.

Such action was made possible in the session of 1937 of the General Assembly. The motion was passed without debate.

Tax Program Decision Near

Legislature And State Administration Confronted With Tax Crisis

SEVERAL PLANS ARE CONTEMPLATED

By RAYMOND WILCOVE

HARRISBURG, April 13.—A decision on whether there shall be a new tax program at the present session of the legislature is expected soon, perhaps this week, it was reliably indicated today, as indications pointed to new tax levies.

Sentiment among Republican legislators was rapidly crystallizing into a belief that a new tax program could not be started off much longer. Such a program, it was felt by many, should be sufficiently large to provide from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000, or enough to carry the state through until January 1941, when the next legislative meets.

Other Alternative

One other alternative was understood to be under consideration, but just how seriously was not immediately known. That was a plan to avoid new taxes now by reducing the relief appropriation to the amount of money available. The responsibility for seeing to it that the amount was sufficient would be placed squarely on the shoulder of counties and municipalities. In the event business conditions did not (Continued On Page Two)

Mock Air Raids Made On Rome

ROME, April 13.—Ordinary activities in Rome came to a sudden standstill today as the Italian capital was subjected to three mock air raids during the morning.

The aerial maneuvers were carried out as Italy and the rest of Europe awaited the scheduled foreign policy declarations of British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain in London and of French Premier Edouard Daladier in Paris.

With European affairs apparently approaching another climax, the practice raids were evidently carried out to give the Rome populace a demonstration of Italian aerial strength and preparedness for any eventuality.

Auto Hauling Truck-Trailers Ruled Off Highways Sunday

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 13.—"Haul-aways," the long trailer trucks carrying new and used automobiles from distributors, today were ruled off the highways from noon Saturday to midnight Sunday by the public utility commission which directed that such a restriction be placed in all certificates of public convenience.

The ruling is intended to make highways safer for the general motoring public during heavy traffic periods. It was the first of its kind to be issued in Pennsylvania.

The restriction as laid down by the commission, according to Commissioner Chairman Dennis J. Driscoll, will be noted in the future on all certificates of public convenience under which "haul-aways" operate.

It was pointed out, however, that only those trucks which operate exclusively within the state and therefore subject to commission jurisdiction are affected by the order.

German-Polish Dispute Over Danzig Is Revived

(International News Service)

BERLIN, April 13.—The German-Polish dispute over the free city of Danzig came to the front again today when the Nazi-controlled Danzig government protested to Poland against distribution of anti-Danzig leaflets on Polish trains.

The protest was sent to Warsaw amid indications of renewed German pressure upon the Polish government.

DNB, the official German news agency, reported that 100 Germans fled to Danzig from the Polish corridor to escape anti-Nazi outbreaks.

A Reuter dispatch from Warsaw stated numerous Germans were arrested today in Western Poland on a variety of charges.

Claimed Outrages

(Background note: Several weeks ago, when Germany was bringing pressure upon the Polish government to remain out of the Anglo-French "stop Hitler" front, German newspapers were filled with reports of demonstrations and outrages against members of the German minority in the Polish Corridor. These stories said many Germans were beaten and subjected to other indignities.)

There was no apparent basis for reports that Lipski carried with him any new German proposals to Warsaw regarding restoration of Danzig or the Corridor to the Reich, construction of a motor road through the Corridor or extension of certain rights to Germans in Polish Silesia.

Nevertheless, some foreign diplomatic quarters professed to believe that early moves may be expected toward solution of outstanding differences between the German and Polish governments.

Double Schedule For Senior High To Be Adopted

Enrollment At School So Large
That Change In Program
Is Approved

Due to congestion in the class rooms, the senior high school will probably be placed upon a double schedule in the school term of 1939-40. At the meeting of the school board Wednesday night, Superintendent C. C. Green asked for, and received, permission to work out a dual schedule for the school with sessions being held from 8:30 to 12:30 and from 12:30 to 4:30.

In the past two years, the enrollment of the senior high school has increased to the point where the building cannot handle all of the students. A temporary relief was provided when some of the students were kept in the Washington junior high school and senior classes held there.

This is not the first time a double schedule has been in force in the senior high school. Students who attended in 1907-08-09 will recall a similar situation at that time.

Aged Man Burns To Death In Home Near Sharon Today

SHARON, Pa., April 13.—An exploding oil stove was blamed today for the death of James H. Shaw, 78, who was trapped in his burning cottage last night.

Authorities said the stove blast started the fire which destroyed the aged man's home on the Brookfield-Hubbard Road. Shaw died in the fire.

Some Progress In Coal Parley

New York Mayor In Conference Says He Sees Progress

"DON'T THINK THEY ARE VERY FAR APART"

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 13.—Belief that negotiators, deadlocked for five weeks over provisions to be embodied in a contract that would send 320,000 miners back to work in soft coal pits, are finally making progress was expressed today by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia who conferred with them behind closed doors for about an hour and a half.

"Personally I don't think they are very far apart in there," said the mayor upon emerging from the room in which the eight-man subcommittee was secreted. LaGuardia added hastily:

"That may be because of my ignorance of the full situation."

LaGuardia's note of optimism failed to elicit any information from the sub-committee members when they recessed for luncheon. Stony silence greeted most questions shot at them. John L. Lewis, head of the miners' group, merely said:

"I have nothing to say and there will be no joint statement."

Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the operators, nodded his sympathy with that statement. When asked of LaGuardia had offered his services as a mediator, O'Neill declined to answer.

NEW DEPARTURE IN BRITISH POLICY

Britain And France To Give
Armed Support To Men-

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, April 13.—Displaying a "resolution" which his foreign secretary said was shared "by most states of Europe and the United States," Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today announced a Franco-British pledge of aid to Rumania and Greece in event of aggression and warned Germany and Italy to keep their hands off the Mediterranean.

Addressing the house of lords a few minutes after Chamberlain had announced this dramatic new departure in British peace policy on the continent, Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax said:

"Shared By U. S."

"The judgment of his majesty's government is not only shared by the overwhelming mass of opinion in Britain, but by most states of Europe and by the United States."

Great Britain was profoundly shocked, the prime minister said, by Italy's armed invasion of Albania, which he clearly described as the imposition of force by a powerful nation upon a small and weak one.

But in the same breath, he justified his action in concluding an agreement with Italy, and expressed belief that for the present at least the accord should not be terminated. He revealed that Mussolini had promised the withdrawal of all Italian troops, airplanes and pilots from Spain immediately after Generalissimo Francisco Franco's victory parade in Madrid, scheduled for next month.

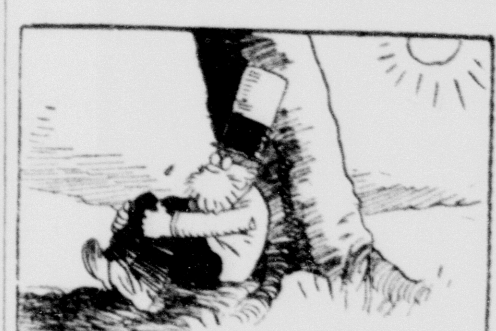

Already aligned with Poland and Poland against Nazi and Fascist aggression, Britain by its pledges today forged two more strong links in the ring of steel around Germany and Italy.

"His majesty's government has come to the conclusion that in event of action threatening the independence of Greece and Rumania and which the Greek and Rumanian governments consider it vital to resist with their forces," Chamberlain said, "his majesty's government will feel itself bound at once to lend the Greek or Rumanian governments all the support in its power."

"I take this opportunity of saying that his majesty's government attaches the greatest importance to avoidance of disturbance by force, or fears of force, of the status quo in the Mediterranean and Balkan Peninsula."

It was apparent from this declaration that Britain will feel that any move by Italy or Germany against Turkey will necessitate British action. (Continued On Page Two)

Eminent Domain For Flood Control

Power To Seize State Land Urged

Congressional Leader Speaks At Convention Of Waterways Representatives

ARMY ENGINEER HEAD ALSO SPEAKS

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 13.—The right of the federal government to condemn state lands for flood control was upheld Wednesday by Will M. Whittington, chairman of the house flood control committee, following a speech before the 44th annual convention of the Ohio River Improvement association.

"There is a state sovereignty, but there is also a national sovereignty," the congressman declared. "If flood control is a national problem to be solved by the federal government, it must follow that the federal government is sovereign in the solution of the problem."

"The federal government must have the power of eminent domain to build dams and construct reservoirs, and at the same time to protect the federal treasury."

It would be "unthinkable" that the federal government should have the same right of condemning land for flood control projects, he continued.

Recent Work Reviewed

"It is unthinkable that utility companies, railroads and other public service corporations in states, including Pennsylvania, have the power of eminent domain to build dams, and that power be denied to the United States in the exercise of its federal function of flood control," Whittington said.

Major General Julian L. Schley, head of the United States army engineers at Washington, spoke of the Ohio river as a line of national defense. Building of locks and dams on the river would insure its use as a transportation medium to relieve the burden of the highways and railroads in times of emergency, he said.

Lieut. Col. William E. R. Covell spoke on the more recent work going on in connection with flood control in the tri-state area.

MUSSOLINI CALLS FASCIST GRAND COUNCIL SESSION

Albanian national assembly, meeting in Tirana, formally offered the crown previously worn by King Achmed Zog to the Italian ruler. Under the tutelage of Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, who flew to Tirana for the occasion, the assembly declared the rule of the fugitive Zog at an end, his constitution abrogated, and provided for a government with the "most intimate association" with Italy.

It was believed there a foregone conclusion that the Italian monarch would accept the Albanian crown, thus to all intents and purposes incorporating Albania in the Fascist empire, although the strategic Adriatic country may retain a certain autonomy aimed at "maintenance" of the Mediterranean status quo.

Peaceful Professions
The grand council is expected to approve this tonight and Victor Emmanuel may be proclaimed king of Albania at the senate meeting on Saturday.

Despite the troops in southern Albania, massed at a point where they could easily move against Greece, the Duce and Greek Premier John Metaxas exchanged peaceful professions yesterday. Metaxas promised a long period of peace between the two nations.

It was learned, however, that the Italo-Greek assurances hinge upon Greece's adherence to "strict neutrality" in the contest for Mediterranean supremacy.

TAX PROGRAM DECISION NEAR

improve and still more funds were needed later, a special session could be called, perhaps early next year.

A joint meeting of senate and house Republican leaders today was expected to go beyond the "talking point" and take up the question of specific taxes.

Under Consideration
Taxes under consideration and the estimated amount they would bring in yearly include:

1—A modified franchise tax to replace the one invalidated by the Dauphin county court, $4,000,000 to $5,000,000.
2—A four per cent amusement tax, $7,000,000 to $8,000,000.
3—A five per cent increase in liquor store prices—$4,000,000 to $5,000,000—plus an increase in the sales tax on liquor, now ten per cent. Approximately $750,000 for each one cent increase.

4—A flat income tax, $25,000,000 to $30,000,000.

5—A documentary stamp tax, $1,000,000.

6—A state sales tax, amount undetermined.

7—An increase in the emergency tax levied, now temporarily "frozen" in the senate finance committee pending a clarification of the state's fiscal program. One suggestion was for a one cent increase in the gasoline tax to bring in $14,000,000.

France Speedily Joins
Paris, April 13.—Standing by Britain's side in readiness to fight for the status quo in the Mediterranean, France today speedily joined in pledges to protect the independence of Rumania and Greece.

Premier Edouard Daladier, in a statement to the press which closely paralleled the London speech of Prime Minister Chamberlain, stinging attacked the use of force to change boundaries or gain new advantages.

"The French government," he said, "attaches the greatest importance to preventing any modification by force, or the menace of force, of the status quo in the Mediterranean or the Balkan Peninsula."

"Taking into consideration the special anxiety to which the last few weeks have given birth, the French government has given Rumania and Greece special assurances."

Identical Attitude
France's promise to the Balkans, which bore out Foreign Minister Bonnet's recent statement that for defense purposes Britain and France are practically under one flag, was textually almost the same as Britain's, Daladier said.

"In case any action is undertaken which would clearly menace Rumania or Greece, and which the Rumanian or Greek governments should consider it to their vital interests to resist with all their national force, the French government would bring them aid with all its forces."

"The British government has adopted the same attitude."

The tornadoes killed two others, one at Tallapoosa, Ga., and the other near Paint Rock in northern Alabama.

POST OFFICE LOBBY WORK TO START SOON

Scheduled to have been started last night, work of installing four new cast aluminum grilles over the windows at the post office was temporarily delayed. Postmaster Richard A. Steen reported today. Most of the job, estimated to take a week or 10 days, will be done in the evening.

Newman Bros., Cincinnati firm awarded the general contract, is understood to have sub-leased the work to a local firm.

Installation of the grills, it is said, will correct a faulty ventilation condition in the main floor workroom of the post office.

strike as being a "terrible economic loss" to miners, railroad men, and industrial workers alike, and expressed hope that a settlement would be reached soon. At the present time there is little movement of coal from the lakes.

On the whole the superintendent's words were much more encouraging than they were last year when he addressed the local veterans. After touching upon the business situation, he interested the listeners greatly by a description of an English train which has been on exhibition in this country.

S. H. Rhoads Presides

S. H. Rhoads, local freight agent, presided at the meeting last night. Besides Superintendent Baker he introduced J. L. Harper, general foreman, J. P. Cable, terminal trainmaster, J. W. Riggs, track supervisor, Mrs. J. P. Walters, president of the ladies auxiliary, and George Wyman, president of the veterans.

Mrs. R. S. Muder, of the auxiliary, paid a tribute to a thirty-year veteran of the railroad, Ed. Scanlon, who has always been a faithful friend of the auxiliary, lending a hand willingly when ever needed. In behalf of the auxiliary Mrs. Muder presented Mr. Scanlon with a souvenir. Mr. Rhoads voiced the same sentiments in behalf of the men's organization, and Mr. Scanlon gave a gracious response.

Card and bingo games amused the guests later, prizes for the former went to Mrs. George Nolte and J. F. Titus, while Mrs. Charles Gee and P. M. Fox were the bingo winners.

Men Do The Cooking
Of course, the most delightful part of the evening was the fish fry, which hasn't been mentioned till now. At 6:30 p. m. a committee of veterans headed by R. H. Walker served a delicious fish dinner, with the supplements (cole slaw, French fried potatoes, et al) to 107 vets and their ladies. It was a fine dinner, for which the men deserve absolute all the credit. Not one woman was allowed to snoop around the kitchen. The men bought the fish, cooked it and served it.

General Chairman Walker was assisted by the following cooks, R. E. Erwin, J. DeGennaro, Johnnie Lombardo and Herbert Dungan, and by the following servers, Joe Paluszak, M. R. Olmstead, Leo Whalen, P. C. Gibson and Charles Gee. Mr. Erwin was the coffee chief.

VICTORY OVER A MOTHER AND HER BABY

THE flight of Queen Geraldine, with her new-born baby, from Mussolini's Good Friday conquest of virtually defenseless Albania, epitomizes the sufferings of all mothers rich and poor in wartime—women whom Christina Rossetti could have meant when she wrote:

"Their mother hearts beset with fears,
Their lives bound up in tender years."

A mother and baby, fleeing from shells, bombs and guerrilla bands—there is nothing that so thoroughly symbolizes the horror of war and, in particular, dictatorship's cowardly attack on Albania. It is such incidents as this, told and retold in song and story, which have gripped popular imagination since the beginning of time.

In Greece, after a harrowing ambulance ride over rough mountain roads, the Queen has found only precarious safety. She is reported seriously ill in a Greek hospital. When she is able to travel she, her husband, King Zog, and their baby, will have to move on because their presence is politically embarrassing to Greece, which, like Albania, is in the shadow of the Fascist-Nazi terror.

Thus, comments the Inquirer of Philadelphia, in the Eastern Mediterranean, reputed cradle of civilization, there is being written another human drama; the wandering Aeneas and Odysseus and the tragic Helen of Troy and Queen Dido live again.

What further "glorious victories" remain for Premier Mussolini can not, at this moment, be forecast. It is to his eternal shame, however, that with armed might he drove a mother and her two-day-old baby into an exile fraught with pain, hardship and heartbreak.

"Upon what meat doth this our Caesar feed, that he is grown so great?"

DICTATORSHIP EFFICIENCY

Several years ago Germany's dictator, Hitler, started with much publicity a program to make a low-cost automobile that would put millions of Germans on wheels.

The U. S. Department of Commerce reported recently that Germany's production of motor vehicles increased slightly in 1938, when 278,000 automobiles and 61,000 trucks were manufactured as compared with 1937 figures of 267,000 and 60,000.

In 1938, American manufacturers produced 2,000,985 autos and 488,650 trucks. To equal that record in proportion to population the Nazi nation would have to turn out four times as many machines as it did.

One of the most arrogant boasts of the dictatorships is that they are more efficient than the democracies. The automobile record falls far short of substantiating the claim.

AN ACUTE PROBLEM IN AMERICA

California has come smack up against the fact that the state has too many people—migrants making up the excess—and that the job is beyond the state. The national government will have to step in and assist in a solution of a sad situation.

All the proposed solutions look pretty weak. The only sure thing about any of them is that whatever is done will cost money.

Three measures are proposed: (1) Resettlement of migrants in areas in an effort to make them self-supporting. (2) Return of migrants to their native states with money assistance in re-establishing themselves in their original environment, the transfer of course to be voluntary. (3) Resettlement of migrants in areas where suitable industrial employment is most likely to be found.

The truth of the matter is that America is suffering from a new ailment—maldistribution of population—and this acute situation in California means that governmentally something will have to be done about it. The coasts have too many people; the interior too few, even in normal times.

HOW FARMERS SUFFER

The latest figures, for 1937, show that it would have required 87,000,000 acres to produce at home the farm crops which were imported during that year. Yet, in the face of these disastrous results, reports are current that reciprocal trade treaties with Argentina and Australia now are under consideration. What are the chief exports of these countries except farm products?

A reduction in the duty on wool is a very likely possibility in any treaty with Australia.

A reduction in the rates on wheat, corn and meat products undoubtedly would be a concession in any treaty with Argentina.

A reduction in the duty on butter probably would be involved in any treaty with New Zealand.

How long are the farmers of the United States going to permit this to go on? Not much longer, in my opinion.

The Roosevelt program is merely a policy of blanket tariff reduction. American wage earners and farmers suffered almost equally.

The trade treaty program is not only impoverishing our rural population with crushing imports of farm products, but is aggravating that situation by further tariff reductions on products which compete with American industry—thus throwing American workers out of employment. This, in turn, reduces the domestic demand for farm products—Congressman Treadway, of Massachusetts.

General Franco will keep his army of a million men. He will need a lot of help to keep Mussolini from moving in.

French press has been ordered not to attack Hitler editorially. Lacking a safety valve, some of those French editors are liable to explode.

A government job is no longer an income tax exemption. Now the bureaucrats can sympathize with the man whose children get to be 18 years of age.

Our greatest lack is team work. One go-getter builds up a foreign market for shoes; another sells the foreigner a machine to make his own

Quantity production of planes sound good, but soon you run out of parking space and have to start a way to get rid of the surplus.

If you do and say what seems right to you, that is principle; if you do and say what seems expedient that is politics.

TOYS FOUND IN EVERY HOME

ANY home has some of the best toys for the baby already on hand. These the infant merely examines at first and later turns them to all sorts of creative uses. Let me offer a few suggestions, indicating when certain objects may first be enjoyed by the baby.

Up to three months—Spoons (a few on a string,) large button molds on a string, table spoons, chain of large safety pins linked together.

Three to six months—Clothes pins, can rings, metal cup and spoon, nettle made of aluminum salt shaker with pebbles inside, or coffee can with objects inside too large for baby to swallow. Long, wide strips of cardboard. Small pins, lids and covers from the kitchen.

6-9 Months
Six to nine months—Kitchen utensils, such as rolling pin, potato masher, egg beater, pancake turner, all sort of aluminum spoons, pans and lids, pie pans, pail, dishpan. All are handled best on the floor.

Nine to 12 months—Baby likes to put smaller kitchen objects into much larger objects and take them out again; or into a basket or box, pulling and pushing it around. He likes to put smaller ones into larger ones of similar shape, even to put together certain ones that fit together and belong together. A large dishpan, dripping pan, even wash boiler—the sounds he can make! Empty milk bottles and cylindrical containers (metal or cardboard) and all sorts of empty cardboard food containers are good, as are a handful of old letters in envelopes, or post cards. He will take them apart, put them into a pack, lay them side by side, occasionally looking at the pictures or marks. Large pieces of fruit and vegetables, such as orange, grapefruit, cucumber, pumpkin, gourd, turnip, are recommended.

More Kitchen Things

Twelve to 18 months—More kitchen things—to be taken from low shelves or box in corner of kitchen, through a hole in each end of cylindrical can or carton put a string and tie the ends with good length. Baby like to drag an object about by a long string; out-of-doors, to drag a long, light stick or pole from one end. He likes to move about the pile of boxes and cases of food from the grocer's. He likes homemade blocks from left-over lumber. He likes to leaf through magazines, put checker men in pile by color or in rows.

Fifteen to 24 months—Large box to climb into and out of and jump from, such as apple box, is desirable. Keep all wrapping paper for him to scribble and draw on with kindergarten crayons. He likes a large assortment of small objects, several of each, such as clothespins, blocks, oranges, can tops. Put one in each of several pans and the child will sort them. Read to the baby from the Bible and other books.

BALLAD OF LOST HOPE

It matters not what age you read,
As far as any records run,
The world was undermined with greed
And something surely must be done;
Disintegration had begun
And honesty was sick with shame.
From rise unto the set of sun
The talk of men was much the same.

Youth scorned the ancient holy creed
To spend their time in having fun,
Vanished was all the manly breed
With which old victories were won.
Hard coal was much too high per ton,
For which the taxes were to blame.
Even in days of good King John
The talk of men was much the same.

The farmers paid too much for seed,
The weavers with the wool they spun
Could scarcely meet the body's need,
No hope was seen for anyone,
And worse despair was drawing on.

Soon revolution's fires must flame!
Always it seems, both pro and con,
The talk of men was much the same.

L'Envoi
Prince, do all things we look upon
Seem less than those the ages claim?
We doubt today! In times long gone
The talk of men was much the same.

JUST PERHAPS
Now that the President of the United States is appointing all those Democrats who were defeated at the last election to prominent and well paying positions in the National Bureaucracy, perhaps these appointees may become as careful as a judge who failed of reelection and was made Cashier of a bank.

A man presented a check to be cashed.

"Don't know you," greeted the cashier.

The customer produced a credit card, a business card, and a lot of letters addressed to himself.

"Not sufficient identity," said the cashier, pushing the check back.

"Why, Judge," protested the man. "I've known you to hang a man on less evidence than that."

"That may be," said the Judge, "but when you're paying out money you have to be careful."

HINTS AND DINTS

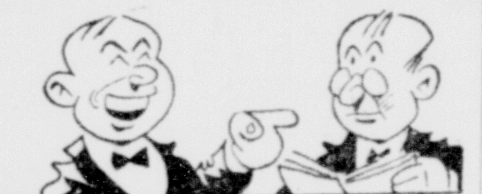

Sun sets tonight 6:37. Sun rises tomorrow 5:23.

The meanest kind of meanness is that used on persons who are not in position to resent it. Those are the people who have to suffer.

A Bronx saxophone player, denounced by neighbors, seeks the service of the police. Has he thought of silent contempt?

There is much talk about free speech and free press. Why not have some free people?

A booster of the national morale urges us to sing at our work. We would like to hear someone try that in a newspaper office.

A magazine prints test questions to show whether you are masculine or feminine. Another good test is reading that kind of articles.

Style notes: High hats are not worn on a level head.

Gus—You say your laundry reminds you of a preacher?

Bob—Yes, it is always bringing things home to me that I never saw before.

Even a licensed dog, according to the law, must be kept on the premises of its owner. Some one wrote us that cats also catch mice. Cats are also all right if they stay on the premises of their owners.

Doodle—I dreamed last night that I proposed to you. I wonder what that's a sign of?

Dipsy—It's a sign that you have more sense when you're asleep than when awake.

If you turn loose and drift with the current, you'll soon get into deep water.

Guppy—It's so hard to be poor! Stingo—And still it's so easy.

We still think Senator Taft of Ohio is the logical candidate for president on the Republican ticket. His father was defeated by a Roosevelt just for spite for a second term and it would be fitting if a Taft retired all the Roosevelts for all time.

A house should have as many bathrooms as it has bed rooms and eight times as many closets as females who live in it.

VILLAGE LAW
Lawyers were anathema to the honest blacksmith of the small town. So when he loaned a friend $25 and the friend offered to have the note drawn up by a lawyer the blacksmith demurred.

"I know all about law," he said. "I'll draw up the note." This is the law he drew up to be signed by the borrower:

"On Oct. 9 I promise to pay Blacksmith Brown the sum of $25 lawful money of the United States. If none of the said money is paid on the aforesaid date this instrument will be null and void."

A gal at Uniontown wants a divorce because her husband threatened to commit suicide if she didn't marry him. Bet she thinks now it would have been better for her if he had.

Mistress—Mandy, when you wait at the table tonight for our company don't wear any of your jewelry.
Mandy—Yes, ma'am; I thanks yo' fo' de advice, but I ain't got nothin' valuable no way.

There are bridge experts on the PWA who teach people how to play bridge. Oh, Ferdinand!

It is possible to note the advance or age in the body. It is more cleverly concealed in the mind. For there are old bodies with young minds or young ideas, and old minds with young bodies. Mind experts are mentally confused as to brain developments and that can be understood. For who knows what makes the mind tick? And what is intelligence?

A PENITENTIAL WEEK

The week had gloomily begun.
For Willie Weeks, a poor man's SUN.

A bright thought struck him and he said:

But when he paid his court to her,
She hisped, but firmly said "No THUR.

"Alas," said he, "then I must die!
Although hereafter I may FRI.

ANOTHER WAR DEBT DEBATE
First Veteran: When you going to pay me the two bucks I loaned you 20 years ago in France?

Today's voluminous morning mail brings me this question from a mother: "I have two young daughters, one with a round face the other with a narrow pointed one. How should I dress them?"

I am replying: For your round-faced daughter, select collars and scarfs to be worn close to the neck in the back and with a long line in the front; necklines that give an oval effect, hats with slightly irregular lines and which carry the eye upward. Avoid hats with round shapes and lines that repeat the curves of the face. For the girl with the narrow, pointed face, select short necklaces, hats with medium slightly drooping brims and soft crowns. Dress her hair in a moderate-sized coil, low on the forehead and in soft, irregular lines, brushed back from her cheeks. Avoid high hats and those with tall, angular trimming; also high collars.

Baruch And Stimson Disagree
Neutrality Question Surprises
Stimson Sides With Roosevelt

By CHARLES P. STEWART

CENTRAL PRESS COLUMNIST
WASHINGTON, April 13.—Ex-Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and Bernard M. Baruch as the senate foreign relations committee's initial witnesses at its neutrality investigation, disagreed in a very peculiar way. Stimson, as everyone knows, is a lifelong Republican, who might reasonably have been expected to deprecate President Roosevelt's argument that the White House ought to be allowed to take sides (not necessarily in military fashion) but in an expression of America's sympathies between belligerents in conditions of warfare involving foreign countries. Baruch, a veteran Democratic counselor, might just as reasonably have been expected to endorse the chief executive's contention that the administration should be permitted to use a great deal of its own judgment.

Instead, the Republican former state secretary tended strongly to concur with the present Democratic president; whereas Mr. Baruch, the chairman of President Wilson's war industries board, a Democrat from way back, gave it as his opinion that Uncle Sam's best bet toward keeping out of overseas wars is to treat all belligerents alike.

Their Roles Reversed
In short, Mr. Stimson testified exactly as Mr. Baruch might have been supposed to testify, and vice versa as between Mr. Baruch and Mr. Stimson.

What they said, respectively, already has been printed in detail, but I don't think that the odd divergence between their conflicting testimonies has been emphasized.

Members of the senate committee need it, though. Republican isolationists like Senator William Borah and Hiram W. Johnson, razed Republican ex-State Secretary Stimson considerably, but were very friendly toward Mr. Baruch. Comparatively anti-isolationist senators (in close touch with the White House), like Senator Alben W. Barkley, the president's leader in the upper chamber, patted Republican Mr. Stimson on the back and inclined to pan Democratic Mr. Baruch.

The discussion hasn't been bitter thus far. It's been academic.

All the same, the Republican testimony has been "pro" the Democratic administration's program, and the Democratic testimony has been "anti."

Chairman Key Pittman of the investigating committee has been enthusiastically for the administration plan—to let the White House boss the job. He has a bill of his own to authorize it to do so. And a lot of the Republicans are in favor of it.

Adverse? Senator Gerald P. Nye, He's a Republican. That's natural. But Representative Ludlow also. He's a Democrat. And Senator Hiram Johnson—a Republican. And Senator Henrik Shipstead—a Farmer-Laborite. And Senator George W. Norris—an independent. And Senator Lynn J. Frazier—whatever he is. He wants to make war unconstitutional.

Who Wins the Debate?
Well, who wins? No war at all—as per Senator Frazier? Compulsory neutrality—as per Senator Nye? War only by plebiscite—as per Representative Ludlow? War only under certain circumstances—as per absolute necessity—as defined by Mr. Baruch and ex-Secretary Stimson? No war at any cost—as per Senators Johnson and Norris?

And if there is a war already (as there is, how are we going to keep out of it?)

That's the problem the senate foreign relations committee is wrestling with.

FOR ALL this Mr. Douglas has his own dear pals of the New Deal to thank. It can't be blamed on anyone else. The silly effort to manufacture a Douglas-for-President movement did not come from the Tories, the reactionaries or the sweating financial interests anxious to make him absurd. It was conceived and promoted by his own particular friends of the so-called White House "inner circle" and it was played by the pro-administration publicists and politicians, who thought they saw in the Horatio Alger success story a Heaven-sent chance to put over something big. That they could so far lose sight of the realities and believe in that idea is a measure of their inexperience and credulity.

TAKE it all in all, it is not surprising that Mr. Douglas should be somewhat resentful over this business. It doesn't put him in a pretty light at all. There was a bit too much overpromise of him when the appointment was announced. This heavy grease about being a Presidential candidate added to the loads of lard with which he was anointed when his name went to the Senate made it inevitable that in legal and political circles a certain amount of caustic wit should be indulged in at Mr. Douglas' expense.

THIS is very bad stuff for a Supreme Court justice. A Supreme Court justice can be anything but amny. He must never be that, and Mr. Douglas soon would have become that had his Presidential promoters not been slowed down. He is to be congratulated upon having cooled them off. It is not his fault that the New Dealers with whom he has trained are now without any candidate at all. That is nothing about which he need bother. The fact is that he is in a position where nothing need ever bother him from now on except, perhaps, his health. It keeps that his situation will be practically perfect, because he has been raised to a plane on which life is less touched by worry and more full of honor than any other. What a sap he would be to risk falling off it!

'Mercy Killing' Advocate Causes Furore In Session

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 13.—Mercy killing of some aged persons on relief, the hopelessly insane and all convicted first degree murderers was suggested today by Major Edward L. Dyer, U. S. A., retired.
In an address before the Washington Society for Philosophical Inquiry, Major Dyer said:
"I realize many religions would be against it but I think if euthanasia (the medical term for mercy killing) were good and humane, and would really be a mercy, this is a case where one of the ten commandments—thou shalt not kill—might be modified."

Opposition Heard
"I don't advocate taking every one on the relief rolls and giving them a shot but euthanasia should be considered in cases of old age, where the persons are no use to themselves or anyone else. As for the criminally insane, I see no reason why they should not be put out of the way and save the expense of keeping them. Society is finding so many ways to spend money, this might be a way to save it."
He indicated he referred to persons more than 70 or 75 years old as aged.

Major Dyer's suggestion immediately drew the fire of Dr. Edward Richardson, professor-emeritus of George Washington university, pastor of a Washington Baptist church and president of the society.

Dr. Richardson asked:
"Where are you going to draw the line? I've passed 60 and I don't think they've any right to kill me off. Some people have done fine work when they were 100. And where are you going to draw the line in killing of the unemployed? Would you start with killing all the Democrats?"

Another Member Of Police Force Resigns His Job

(International News Service)
OIL CITY, Pa., April 13.—Further affidavits concerning alleged violations of police regulations on Wednesday resulted in the resignation of former Lieut. Wilbur A. Perry and the threat of disciplinary action against several other members of the Oil City police force.

This action brought to a close the probe into police activities by Mayor John G. Payne.
Perry had been demoted recently for allegedly revealing police information to persons not qualified to see such evidence, the affidavits revealed.

Following an investigation into purported gambling machine and numbers rackets in this city, Captain Thomas Sherwood of the police force was the first to resign in the present shake-up.

Youngsters Gather Up 23,000 Cans In Bluefield, W. Va.

(International News Service)
BLUEFIELD, W. Va., April 13.—Bluefield's annual clean-up drive was adjudged a complete success, but harassed committeemen wondered what to do with 23,000 tin cans.

As an inducement to attract juvenile cooperation in the clean-up the Chamber of Commerce offered a free theatre ticket to every kid who collected as many as 50 tin cans.

Wednesday 23,000 cans were piled in a huge heap in a vacant lot, and 325 kids went to the movies gratis.

Anesthesia has an ancient lineage. The Chinese knew of it thousands of years ago.

Herodotus speaks of unconsciousness by hemp-seed vapors.

Dioscorides and Pliny knew of mandragora for operations.

Thirteenth century surgeons used opium and hyoscyamus.

In 1800, Davy, of England, experimented with nitrous oxide.

Chloroform was discovered in 1831. It was first used as an anesthetic in 1847.

Then followed the use of ether, nitrous oxide and ethylene.

All have contributed much to relief of human suffering.

Suffering is eased and operations made painless.

Euphoria, or absence of pain, according to our dictionary "a state of well being" is a boon to mankind.

Electrical Orders Show An Increase

PITTSBURGH, April 13.—A 32 per cent increase in electrical equipment orders over last year has been noted by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, President George H. Bucher reported Wednesday at the annual meeting.

At the same time, A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board, said the company expects the improvement to continue "throughout the year."

Incoming orders for the quarter ended March 31 amounted to $50-120,632, Bucher's report showed.

Making out a tax return isn't difficult. The hard part is proving to an investigator, three years later, that you really gave away that five bucks.

Bechtol Reports On Tenure Act

School Board Secretary Tells Of Hearing Held At Harrisburg

Considerable time was taken up Wednesday night at the meeting of the school board, by Secretary John B. Bechtol when he explained to the board the meaning of a number of ills now before the General Assembly in Harrisburg. Mr. Bechtol attended a meeting of board secretaries sometime ago in Harrisburg when a public hearing was held.

The bill which seemed to attract the most attention, according to Mr. Bechtol, is senate bill 45, which calls for some revision of the teachers' tenure act. He told of the hearing on the bill, the speakers who appeared for and against it and said that the proponents of the bill were treated shabbily by those appearing against it.

The one change which the bill provides is that of permitting boards to discharge married women who are teaching. This, according to Mr. Bechtol, would save the New Castle district nearly $10,000 per year.

No Provision Made For Funds To Pay

Payment Of Reimbursement To School Boards May Be Delayed Two Years

By GEORGE L. FISHER
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 13.—The administration-favored bill to postpone for two years an act of 1937 whereby the commonwealth would reimburse school districts for pupils' transportation and tuition today was a step nearer enactment.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Frank E. Snyder, R. of Tioga, was approved by the house, 116 to 64, and sent to the senate over the protest of Democrats led by Rep. Leo A. Achterman, of Monroe county.

Disregarding Snyder's contention that no additional costs would be imposed on local school boards, Achterman protested that the measure will be a burden upon school districts.

"This bill is unfair to the school districts," asserted the Monroe legislator. "It saddles on them more than $6,000,000, in the face of the department of public instruction's campaign to encourage consolidation."

"It leaves them high and dry. The house of representatives should be condemned by every school district in the commonwealth."

Rep. J. T. Stewart, Indiana Republican, and chairman of the House Education committee, explained that although the bill would become effective at the end of the current biennium, no means had been provided by the previous administration to defray the added expense.

Republican floor leader Robert E. Woodside, Jr., of Dauphin county, made this comment: "It is easy to give gifts and to send the bill to someone else."

"That's what the Earle administration did. The funds are not available. The bill merely delays until a later date the assuming of these expenditures by the state."

Expense Money Probe Starts

Attorney General Murphy Wants To Know How U. S. Marshals Spend Federal Money

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 13.—A nationwide investigation of use of government expense money by U. S. marshals has been instituted by Attorney General Frank Murphy, it was disclosed Wednesday.

The attorney general reported that the expense accounts of "quite a few" marshals were under scrutiny by justice department agents.

Items Checked
Murphy mentioned the case involving Kenneth Kerr, resigned U. S. marshal at Cincinnati. He explained that the investigation of Kerr's expense items were simply a part of the general inquiry and that Kerr did not do anything that had not been the practice of a number of other marshals throughout the country.

He added that Kerr wanted to resign for a number of reasons. While conceding Kerr's expense accounts were being examined, Murphy emphasized that he did not want to have the wrong impression attached to this particular case and insisted that it was simply a part of the general picture.

A letter was sent to all U. S. marshals recently in which Murphy imposed strict limitations on the use of expense money.

Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Thoma, heard a broadcast about the mystery and told her husband. He identified the body at the morgue.

Dr. Dafeo's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

INFECTIOUS PERIOD OF WHOOPIING COUGH STARTS WITH FIRST SYMPTOMS

Common colds are the only infectious diseases the Dionne Quintuplets have had. I sincerely hope they never get whooping cough. The prospect of the whole five whooping at once is a little upsetting.

I don't suppose many infectious diseases have longer courses or more far-reaching effects than whooping cough. It is very common in temperate climates, and although it doesn't come in epidemics, it is usually present in every city at almost any time of the year.

I have always felt that it is much better for children to have whooping cough in the spring. If they do, then they have the whole summer to recover. But if they catch it in the fall, they usually wind up with bronchitis and cough most of the winter.

The incubation period—the time between exposure and the first symptom—varies greatly. Sometimes it is only a couple of days; sometimes two weeks. It is reassuring to know that during this period of incubation, the person doesn't pass the germs on to others. But the moment the first symptom appears, then the disease is highly infectious.

Mostly it is spread through direct contact with an infected person, but it can also be spread by a carrier. It is also carried by handkerchiefs and clothing, and great care should be taken to destroy materials that have been exposed to cough.

Whooping cough gets a good chance to spread because your child won't start out to whoop right away. Usually it starts with a head cold accompanied by quite a severe cough. In this stage, it is very infectious, and it may be ten days before the whoop appears. In fact, I've known children to have the disease and never whoop at all.

Once you hear the whoop, there isn't any mistaking it. In fact, an old grandmother who has heard the same cough many times can diagnose the disease as well as many a young medical student who is trying to relate the spasms with what he has read in his medical text books.

The term "whoop" is very descriptive of the cough. It is derived from the fact that at the height of the illness the child will give a series of explosive coughs that follow each other in such rapid succession that he cannot get his breath. At the end of the spasms, the child is blue in the face, and as he exploded that last cough, he sucks in his breath with a whooping sound.

Children are given to whooping more at night than in the daytime with the result that no one in the house gets much sleep. I think this is partly due to lack of fresh air. A child will be out in the fresh air and sunshine all day and will whoop very little. But when he is brought indoors and goes to bed in a room not properly ventilated, then he begins to whoop. I say I think this is the reason because it seems to me that in recent years, with people more or less reconciled to fresh air in bedrooms, there isn't as much whooping as formerly.

Harold was flown here after physicians in Monongahela and Pittsburgh had declared his case hopeless.

"Take S.S.S. Tonic this Spring, so my Diary tells me"

"I know from experience I will be happier when I feel better and look better."

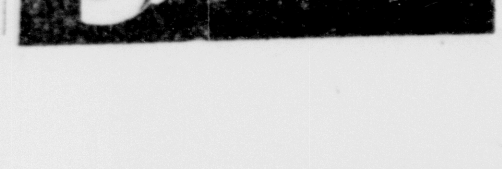

And the reason for this is quite simple. Worry, overwork, undue strain, colds, and sickness often reduce the blood's strength and vitality.

But you may rebuild this strength by restoring your blood to normal, in the absence of an organic trouble, with the famous S.S.S. Tonic.

S.S.S. helps build you up. Further, S.S.S. Tonic whets the appetite, foods taste better, natural digestive juices are stimulated, and finally, the food you eat is of more value . . . a very important step back to health.

Buy and use with complete confidence and we believe you, like others, will be enthusiastic in your praise of S.S.S. Tonic for its part in making "you feel like yourself again."

Post Office

Meeting in the Liberty Hotel, South Liberty street, Wednesday at noon, members of the Seventh Ward Civic club, held a luncheon meeting.

Jack Brettell, president, was in charge of the session and led the group in a discussion of summer activities of the group.

Clarence Coates introduced a discussion period regarding the mail dispatches at the Mahoningtown Post Office. It was brought out that after three o'clock each afternoon, mail deposited at the station in the ward, remains there until the next morning.

A great deal of discussion was heard on this matter, and Alfred Hyde, secretary of the organization, was instructed to communicate with Postmaster Richard Steen, in an effort to provide a better service.

Regarding the proposed Route 18 project, the various committees gave their reports, and it was learned that the committee recently named by Brettell, would attend a meeting of the district planning commission, on April 18, in Youngstown.

Harry Blews Is Observing His 87th Birthday

Long Time Resident Is Enjoying Notable Anniversary At East Side Home

Today, Harry Blews, of 910 Ryan avenue, is quietly celebrating his eighty-seventh birthday anniversary. Mr. Blews makes his home with his daughters Elizabeth Blews, and Mrs. Claude Cherry, at the above address.

Mr. Blews was born in Staffordshire, England, and was brought to this country by his parents, when but one year old, locating in this city. Before moving to the east side, thirteen years ago, he and his family resided for about twenty five years on East Long avenue.

Mr. Blews worked at the Wright and Berger pudding mill, for many years, up until its dismantling. Later he went into the sand business on the Butz property on Croton avenue. Later he was employed for for a number of years at the Shengango Tin plant, then for a few years assisted Mrs. Cherry in the grocery business, until he retired about thirteen years ago.

When in the sand business, Mr. Blews took much pride in maintaining a lovely team of draft horses. Mr. Blews is a charter member of the Arlington Avenue Free Methodist church.

Although Mr. Blews has been confined to his room for four months, he feels a little stronger today, and is getting up, to receive the congratulations and good wishes of his relatives and friends. He has received many birthday greeting cards.

Van Zandt Declares Veterans Opposed To Another War

Former Head Of V.F.W. Testifies

Says He "Feels He Should Apologize For Present Neutrality Law"

U. S. CAN STAY OUT OF WAR SAYS HEALY

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 13.—Rep. Van Zandt (R), Pennsylvania, three times national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, on Wednesday told the house foreign affairs committee that the neutrality act had turned out to be an instrument for "choosing sides", and that he felt that he "should now apologize to the American people for having advocated it."

"Not Instrument of Peace"
"What was once deemed an instrument of peace now appears to be an indirect means of aiding one side or the other in war, declared or undeclared, if not an actual means of aggression," Van Zandt said.

"Stripped of flimsy camouflage and polite persiflage this neutrality legislation is nothing more than a method of choosing in advance the side on which the United States will fight in the next war, which persons in high places evidently believe may overtake us before autumn."

Opposed To War
The average World War veteran, Van Zandt said, is opposed to the United States engaging in another war "except for defense and not even that if it can be avoided with honor."

Another witness, Dr. Thomas H. Healy, dean of the Georgetown school of foreign service, Washington, D. C., took the identical position of Van Zandt against American participation in another war, but Healy declared that the best way to achieve the goal was to retain the neutrality act.

"While a major war would affect us," he said, "there is no proof that we can't stay out of it."
"We went to war in 1917 to end war, to make the world safe for democracy and we came near to ending the democracy and making the world safe for war."

"There is not an iota of evidence, contrary to the statements of many people, to show that the present neutrality act has failed. It is a step in the right direction and should be strengthened."

Propaganda Campaign
"This country for the past year has been subjected to one of the most terrific propaganda campaigns in the history of the world to embroil us in European and Asiatic affairs, and it is so clever you can't spot it."

"We are the victims of an orgy of war hysteria and propaganda has us completely confused."

Van Zandt denounced the pending Pittman "peace act of 1939" as about as "peaceful as a dynamite bomb." Its title, he said, should properly read "an act to select the side on which American boys will fight in the next war and for any other purposes dictated by Great Britain and France."

Should Now Apologize
He recalled that he had actively urged passage of the present neutrality act and had sat in on conferences with members of the senate who drafted it.

"I was national commander then and I was doing a lot of shouting about neutrality around the country," he said.
"I take the position that I should now apologize to the American people for what I did in advocating the present act."

Meanwhile, 25 members and former members of the house advocated the formation of a national organization to "keep America out of foreign wars."

Super Movie Sets Being Erected In Hollywood

By MILTON HARKER
(Copyright, 1939)

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, April 13.—Hollywood figures a war-jittery public wants the best entertainment possible to take its mind off its troubles and right now more than $1,000,000 is going into the biggest collection of super movie sets the screen capital has seen in many a day.

Columbia, for example, is re-creating the U. S. senate chamber right down to the square inch. To guard against errors, the studio has its technical advisor James D. Preston, now associated with the archives department of the library of congress and connected with the senate in various capacities for 40 years.

The set will play a prominent part in Frank Capra's new picture, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington." This should be as fine screen fare as Hollywood turns out all year. It's the story of a young man interested in the welfare of youth, played by Jimmy Stewart, who is appointed to the senate to fill a two months' vacancy by a crooked governor and his pals. They figure he'll be too stupid to catch up with their machinations. The result is a riot of fun, with Jean Arthur as the love interest, and Guy Kibbee, Edward Arnold, Claude Rains and Eugene Pallette as the villains.

The senate chamber will cost between $75,000 and $100,000. There will be 42 other sets used in the picture. But, as you might expect in a movie, the action of the story begins in a telephone booth.

Samuel Goldwyn is spending $125,000 to convert his whole studio back lot into a Philippine constabulary station of 30 years ago. It's for "The Real Glory," which starts soon with Gary Cooper, David Niven and Andrea Leeds.

Steam shovels are scooping out four and a half acres for a lagoon, which will be 14 feet deep in spots. The cost of the boats to ply hither and yon in the midst of a city comes extra.

Most extensive and one of the most expensive of all the outdoor sets in town covers more than 20 acres of the Selznick International back lot. It's for "Gone With the Wind" and it represents Atlanta during Civil War days. The utmost care and research has gone into it to make this an exact replica. Powdered brick dust has been scattered over many of the streets so the right color of the soil will be picked up by the color cameras. Universal studio has gone out to Tarzana for six acres on which to build a section of the African gold coast, including a native village and a British constabulary barracks. It's being used for "The Sun Never Sets" with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Basil Rathbone heading the cast.

There's another jungle set covering two whole sound stages at R. K. O. It's for "Five Came Back," the story of a transport plane which crashes in the wilds of Central America. Right in the midst of the set is a twin-motored plane, one which can actually fly.

Eroe Would Reduce Constables' Mileage

Under the provisions of a bill introduced into the state senate by Senator William J. Eroe, Jr., constables of the state would have their mileage allowance reduced from 10 to 6 cents per mile.

At the present time a constable is allowed to charge ten cents per mile when he is required to serve a warrant upon a person charged with crime. The Eroe bill would cut this to six cents.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Old England leads when it comes to imitating a fish. First we had Richard Haydn, scoring on Broadway with his charmingly realistic impersonations, and now here are garlands for British scientists, who reconstructed a 127-pound fish from some bones about 300,000,000 years old. The exciting thing about all this is that one of these fishes, supposedly extinct eons ago, was caught off East London, South Africa, and it conforms almost perfectly to the man-made imitation.

British news scouts don't bulldoze a feature story the way our do and the news has oozed into the papers here, in a roundabout way, via stodgy scientific journals and fillers next to the "agony column" in the dustbin sections of the London newspapers. While a whale isn't a fish, this is, in its way, a whale of a story. What a yarn it would be if a Wyoming cowboy should lasso a Dinosaur, or an ichthyosaurus, and it should turn out to be just like the one pieced out from a few spare parts in the Museum of Natural History. So far as this observer can learn, this never has happened before in scientific annals.

To most of us, I believe, the pun-dits have always been slightly suspect, in scrapping together a few old bones, stating problems of leverage and stress and strain, and framing out of various plastics some horrendous creature supposed to have lived many millions of years ago. Nobody could dispute them, and the dinosaurs et al. have been in the school books so long that we have taken them for granted. "Form follows function," wrote Lamarck. The professors studied the function of a creature making a living in a given environment, and provided him with the necessary form.

The new fish, called Crossopterygii by the scientists, is described as a somewhat stodgy creature, "rather heavy and wooden looking, with a large, boxlike head and a prominent snout." If, like Rome when the "lion whelped in the streets," England is jittery about omens, these days, this one wouldn't be so good. The fish has a hollow spine, somewhat rubberized with cartilage, instead of bone, and when it tapped it, it exuded twenty gallons of oil. It is, however, brightly enameled with shining scales.

Its fins are like fans; it has a double tail and complex jaws and other complications, some fancy, some useful, which would indicate it had somehow become confused at the biological crossroads. It wouldn't have seemed like a good bet in the early deep-sea battle-royal but, anyway, one of them muddled through.

This vindication of the scientists who imagined what this fish ought to be, and were proved to have been right, has only one precedent, so far as I can learn—that is a precedent in the ultimate proven reality of something which the mind of man had decreed must exist thus and so. That was with the discovery of Neptune, our outermost planet, in 1846. Several years before this date, Leverier, a French astronomer, had observed the then outfield planet, Uranus, running a split second off schedule in coming under the wire in its 84-year run around the sun. It is 1,750,000 miles from the sun so it can be seen that clocking it down to an erratum of seconds took a mighty sharp pencil.

But here it was going wrong, and Leverier had the problem of learning what had disturbed it. He had as a starter Newton's law of gravitation, the known mass and momentum of Uranus and nothing else. Figuring his way through a jungle of calculus, night and day for years, he got the answer. Uranus wasn't track sore. It was just being pulled down by an invisible planet which, at a certain instant, on a certain day, late in 1846, ought to be in a certain sidereal latitude and longitude.

He gave the information to the Paris Observatory.

Trout Streams Reported High And Some Muddy

Condition Of Some Of Best Known Trout Streams In State Reported Today

SEASON OPENS ON SATURDAY

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, April 13.—Thousands of fishermen were making last-minute checkups on tackle today on the eve of opening of the Pennsylvania trout season Saturday.

The garden worm, known to some as "burden hackle," will rank as the chief lure, according to information on stream conditions furnished by the fish commission.

Report On Streams
The following reports from wardens, the commission advised, will be subject to drastic change in the event of heavy rainfall before Saturday.

Chester county: "Trout streams are in the pink of condition in my district. Chester county waters have received a very heavy stocking this spring."

McKean county: "Streams high and muddy. Raining and snowing most of time. High water probable for opening day."

Luzerne county: "At present time all trout waters are high, some murky and some clear. Indications are that above mentioned conditions will prevail here on opening day."

Jefferson county: "Trout streams in Jefferson and Indiana counties a little high and murky but dropping and clearing fast. Without heavy rains they will be in fine shape for opening."

Warren county: "Streams in this section are all high and roily. However, without more rainfall, they should be in fair condition for opening."

Butler county: "The trout streams in Butler and Beaver counties are high and muddy due to a lot of rain and snow within the last two weeks."

Philadelphia: "All streams in Pocomo are high and in cultivated districts will be somewhat cloudy. Expect water to be normal by opening if no more rain. Streams in vicinity of Philadelphia, high and murky."

Wayne county: "Streams above normal very cold. Ice in some lakes."

Schuylkill county: "Streams high from recent rain. Should be in fair shape by Saturday barring more rainfall. Expect heavy catch."

Crowd of 13,000 expected to see Tommy Farr-Red Burman bout in London tonight.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Frank Shubert, secretary of the Wampum club of the Lawrence County Baseball league today announced the signing of first baseman Johnny Marshall, outfielder Amy Fontana and Captain Charles De Mark. According to Shubert, Manager Jimmy Butcher will have no difficulty forming one of the best clicking infields in the loop. Last year Marshall played a good game at first. In hitting, Fontana banged the apple for 325 last season.

Interest in the Lawrence county baseball loop is bound to perk with the addition of Ellwood City as a franchise holder. It has been some years since our neighboring city was a member. However, Ellwood City always has been a hustling sports center and should have no difficulty rounding up a fast team. It might also be said that with the election of officers here last night came the addition to the commission of Charlie Cox, sports editor of The Ledger. A score of years ago Charlie served with the writer in the same capacity as he will serve this season. Earl Allen of Wampum is the third member.

Beaver Falls police will stage an amateur fistic show April 28. The fight will be held in the Beaver Falls high school gymnasium. Alex Scassa is making the matches. Frankie Porto, featherweight, who fought in the bowl here years ago will referee. Tonight in St. Columbus hall, Rayen avenue, Youngstown, New Castle will be represented by Mickey Rubin, Frankie Moran and other knockout punchers for a benefit for the needy.

Tommy Farr, the British heavyweight is a 5 to 4 favorite over Red Burman of the United States in their 12 round bout in London tonight. Burman won the fight they staged in New York.

Bob Scheffing, 29, will manage the Washington team in the Pennsylvania State Baseball association according to Sheriff Matt Armstrong, president of the Class D club.

Capitolas Will Meet On Friday

There will be a meeting of the Capitola baseball team at 208 East North street at 7:30 o'clock on Friday night. It was announced today by Manager Tony Aceto.

The following players will attend the meeting: Turco, Houk, Wilkins, Snow, Patterson, McClymonds, George Reider, Tom O'Neil, Hub Owey, Ketchell, Westlake, Kolar, and Tom Carey.

Ellwood City Joins Lawrence County League

Princeton, New Galilee May Enter Loop; Elect Officers For 1939

LOOP TO PLAY ON TUESDAY, FRIDAY

Officials of the Lawrence County Baseball league met last night in the Sport Goods store, admitted Ellwood City as a member of the loop and received indications that Princeton and New Galilee will join the circuit April 19. Plans also have been made to secure an eighth franchise-holder. Officers were elected for 1939 and the season will open May 9.

The officers re-named or elected for their first term, follows: Re-elected, Alex Samuels, president; secretary, James Martin, Bessemer; treasurer, Eddie Connerly; newly-named, vice president, Walter Landgraf, Ellwood City.

The commission was increased from one to three. Ed Fritz, sports editor of The News, was re-elected and the board increased with the election of Charles Cox, sports editor, Ellwood City Ledger, and Earl Allen of Wampum.

Former Sheriff William G. Andrews, who has worked earnestly for the league for years, and who has served as president, vice president and honorary president, was named honorary president for the life of the league.

Play Twice Weekly
Those present last night: Webb Stanley, who with Paul Nord, will manage Bessemer; Joe Augustin, South Hills; Charles Riley, Hillsville; Wampum, James Butcher; Ellwood City, Walter Landgraf; Princeton, T. W. Allison; New Galilee, J. A. Fusitti.

Fusitti and Allison indicated that they may take out franchises when the league holds another meeting, April 19. It was also reported that Frisco may join the organization.

The league will play twilight games on Tuesday and Friday of each week.

Carik-Lenhart With Slovaks
Manager Steve "Snag" Russell of the Slovak Club is banking on the pitching arms of Johnny Carik and Joe Lenhart to bring the Slovaks to the top of the loop.

Carik is a fast ball pitcher with a baffling assortment of curves. Lenhart is a slow-ball artist with a tantalizing assortment of foolers. Russell is hoping that both Carik and Lenhart can turn in 15 victories this summer.

Withdrawal of Benfactor due to an injured foreleg leaves Col. E. R. Bradley without an entry in the Kentucky Derby and so for the sixth straight year the Colonel has to pass up his chance at a fifth victory in the bluegrass classic.

Dick Bartell is anxious to don uniform after eight days in a hospital for treatment of his injured ankle, and the shortstop says he'll be ready to play for the Chicago Cubs starting tomorrow.

President Will Toss Out First Ball Of Season

Roosevelt Will Throw First Ball Next Monday When Senators Meet Yankees

By LEON W. SHLOSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, April 13.—Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt, The White House, Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:
As of this writing, there seems to be considerable controversy as to whether 1939 is the 100th anniversary of baseball or not—but don't forget, Mr. President, that no matter who wins the argument, the opening game is next Monday out at Griffith Stadium, and they can't get things rolling without you.

The Washington Senators and the New York Yankees will meet, and if you're carrying out the horseshoe, you've brought out to the park for six years now, say, is that the same horseshoe the Republicans keep talking about you having? The Washingtons should win. That'll probably be the only time they'll be in front of the Yanks all summer, so don't miss it.

Baseball Not Bomb
There's another reason why you got to throw out that first ball. It'll let 30,000 people who are there, and millions more who read about it,

Sitting Bull of the National League. The small infielder has worked opposing chukkers for more than 100 Annie Oakleys to first each season for the last six years P. S. Ott, also plays a mean game of "poker."

A bit more about baseball.... The American League first division seems like a closed corporation with Cleveland, Boston and Detroit scheduled to fight it out for the berth next to the Yankees.... There's one thing the Brooklyn Dodgers will not lack this season.... college spirit. Ernie Koy, was a former Texas backfield star and Fred Sing-ton was an Alabama frontman.... Tony Lazzeri, who dislikes spaghetti, has been nicknamed "Spaggetti" by Leo Durocher, his new boss.... "Babe" Dahlgren, Yankee reserve, has purchased two new first baseman's gloves. Does he anticipate replacing the limping Gehrig? The last fellow who had high hopes is still hoping. We still maintain it's wise to holdup Lou's obit.

A dash of this and that.... Today's rib tickler. A coast sheet carrying a picture of Jack Roper and his manager captioned—New Champ and His Manager.... The Kentucky Derby list is comprised of 92 colts, 17 geldings and six fillies the largest entry list since 1934.... Tony Canzoneri, at 30, has spent almost half of his life in the ring.... Rene Monteague, Robert Ortiz and Roberto Estalella, Washington Senators, are all Cubans.... Alexander Castraciel imported by the Senators from South America, can't speak a word of English. Learned how to pitch from barnstorming United States players....

a good chance to see that it's a baseball you're holding, and not a bomb like a lot of European big shots have been opening games with lately.

About this argument now. Seems that one side says baseball was invented in 1839 by a fellow called Ab Doubleday. The other side claims the credit for Alexander Cartwright, along about six years later. The books always gave Cartwright and his team, the Knickerbockers, the credit until 1907 when a commission ups and hands the palm to Doubleday.

Well, what's the difference who invented the game? The big thing is that it prospered and provided entertainment for millions of people, and kept thousands of kids out of mischief. Instead of museums like they have in Europe with statues of their war heroes, this country's got a museum up at Coopers-town, N. Y., with statues of the greatest ball players. Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Matty, Walter Johnson, Lajoie, Young, Speaker, Alexander, Hans Wagner. Great men that the kids will remember long after they've forgotten dictators and kings.

So—see you Monday, Mr. President. Old Sam's touching up your box with fresh green paint. You remember Old Sam, don't you? He's prettied up the president's box for a long time, now, and you're his favorite customer.

Yours truly,
A. FAN.

Max Baer has it all figured out that he cannot possibly miss getting a return engagement with Joe Louis for the world heavyweight championship next September and incidentally a slice of another million dollar gate.

Here He Is, Joe!

This gent's going up now but on the night of April 17 in Los Angeles he'll probably go down—by the count. He is Jack Roper, the veyan heavyweight who meets Champion Joe Louis on that night in a title bout.

Eight Teams In Softball League

Season Will Start Monday, May 15; Each Team Allowed 18 Players

There will be eight teams in the New Castle City Softball league this summer, it was announced today by Rocco P. Viagiano, president of the circuit. A final meeting was held last night at the "Y" and all eight teams had their franchise money recorded.

The league will swing open on Monday May 15 with the playing of four games. All games will start not later than 5:45 o'clock. All games will be for nine innings, unless stopped on account of darkness or any other reason by the umpires or by consent of the managers.

Eighteen Players
Each team will be allowed to carry a playing roster of 18 men. It will be a split season again, the winners of the first-half will battle the second-half winners for the city championship.

The following teams will make up the league: National Radiators, Nobilis, Civics, K. Pulaski, Gus, Johnson Bronze, Foleys and Sons of Italy.

Games will be played three times each week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The National Radiators will be the defending champions this season, and will be out to repeat their 1938 success.

Falcons Win, Factors Lose In Final Game

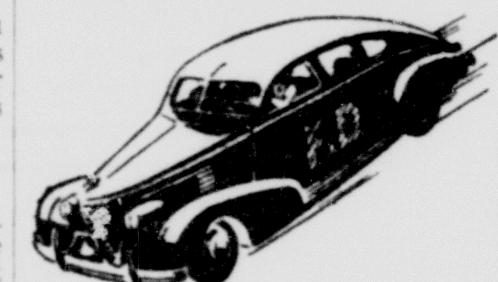

The Polish Falcons closed a most successful basketball season last night by handing the famous Factor All-Stars of New Kensington a 28 to 22 defeat. The Factors were run-ners up at Sharon and East Liverpool tourneys recently.

In the main game the Factor Varsity girls team lost to the Cannonball Rehner All-Stars of Pittsburgh in a finely played game 37 to 30. Miss Jean Cerutti made 18 of the Factor points. Kitty "Tootsie" Reiter played a fine guarding game for the locals. Anna Factor and Cannonball Rehner were the best bets in the lineup of the victors.

It was the final game for the Factor girls and closes a great season on the hardwood court.

Jack Roper cuts cheek in training for his title bout with Joe Louis in Los Angeles April 17 but it proves to be only a scratch and not serious enough to interfere with the fight.

Golf Leaguers To Stage Party

Sylvan Heights Golfers Will Have Get-together Prior To League Opening

Arrangements are under way for a big get-together of the golfers who will comprise the Sylvan Heights league, and their golfing friends on Thursday evening, April 27, in the club house at Sylvan Heights.

Frank Summers is chairman of the committee on arrangements and is distributing tickets to the team captains of the various teams. He announced today that a good program is being arranged for the evening.

The Sylvan Heights League, with a roster of ten teams, will start its seventh season on Friday evening, May 5.

Tommy McCormick Veteran Catcher, Now Pilots Club

Tommy McCormick, catcher-manager of the West Side Tigers baseball team in the city league, is a veteran of more than 16 years of sandlot baseball here in New Castle. McCormick was with the original West Side Tigers back in 1923 when they won the championship.

McCormick's biggest delight would be to pilot the young West Side Tigers to the city baseball league championship, and he may do so, if his hurlers can get in shape. The Tigers will have a crack pitching staff topped by Hank Faller, Paul Morrison, Dutch Updegraff, Jay Thomas, Earl Morris and Stevenson.

The Tiger pilot has played with the following teams here: Ricks, Scarazzos, Mahoning A. A. and also played with the Beaver Falls Independents. During his catching days McCormick handled the slants of such well known local pitchers as Paul McCullough, Dutch Haid, Fitz Rodenbaugh and Fred Shaffer, the latter now with Louisville in the American Association.

Bessemer To Have Fish Fry

Sportsmen Of Bessemer To Gather In Croatian Hall Friday

RECEIVE 1,000 PINE TREES FOR PLANTING

Bessemer Rod and Gun Club will stage a fish fry in the Croatian hall at Bessemer at 6 p. m. Friday, to which the public is invited, according to Kenneth E. Griffin, secretary. The fish fry put on by the club always proves one of the best of its kind according to those who have attended the events and no doubt a large crowd will be present.

The club will hold their regular monthly meeting at 8 p. m. in the portable school building where five reels of motion pictures will be shown. One will be in color.

During the meeting the members will discuss the planting of 1,000 pine trees which the club has received. All members have been asked to bring a visitor to the Monday night meeting.

In making his announcement of the two events today Secretary Griffin requested members and friends to not fail to ask the farmer for permission before fishing for trout in streams coursing through his lands.

"Let us all be sportsmen and keep Hickory and other creeks open to fishing," the secretary suggested. Trout season begins Saturday.

UMPIRES WILL MEET SUNDAY

A meeting of the City Baseball League umpires for 1939 will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Tigers Club rooms. It was announced by President Dom Costello today.

This will be the final day to enroll as members. A discussion of baseball rules will take place.

Five Scout Teams Rated Standards

Successful First Aid Meet Held
In George Washington
School Wednesday

Out of the 16 teams entered in the New Castle District Boy Scout first aid meet, held Wednesday night, at the George Washington Junior High school gymnasium, five were given standard ratings.

The meet was under the sponsorship of the Mahoning-Shenango Valley Engineers society, and was aided by the American Red Cross.
Harry J. Culliford, served as chief judge for the meet.

In order to rate standard, a team must accumulate a score of 92-2-3 per cent, which is a very high rating. Red Cross requirements for standard rating is a score of but 75 per cent.

Teams from the following troops came out ahead of getting standard ratings: Troops 2, 12, 12, 37 and 55.
Troops 3, 5, 18 and Neshamock 1, also had teams in the meet, but they failed to get the required percentage. Culliford stated however, that this last group ran very close to the top five teams.

Scarcity Of Coal Is Reported Here

Supply On Hand Is Running
Low Because Of Strike,
Davis States

If the weather continues cold much longer, there will be a scarcity of coal here, I. V. Davis, prominent local coal dealer stated today.
The situation has been caused by the failure of miners and mine owners to reach an agreement on wages
it is stated.

The supply of coal in most local yards, is getting very low at the present time, Mr. Davis stated, and mine owners are turning down all orders because they have no coal to ship.

Local dealers who have a stock on hand or have coal now in course of shipment will be able to fill orders with these supplies as long as they last.

It is unlikely, however, that any great hardship will result here because of the situation, as coal can be trucked in from surrounding country mines, and the weather is certain to turn warmer soon.

Royall Tyler was the first American playwright, his play, "The Contrast" being produced in 1787.

Will Resurface School Blackboards

Taggart Stadium May Be Leased For Professional
Football Game In Fall

Meeting in the administration building on East Street, the New Castle School Board held its regular monthly business meeting on Wednesday night with little but routine business to attract its attention.

A contract was authorized for the employment of the Stalter Resurfacing Company of Pittsburgh for the resurfacing of 4,000 or more feet of blackboard in the schools.
The cost is to be ten cents per square foot.

Rev. U. S. Munnerlyn of the Second Baptist church appeared before the board and asked permission for the use of the Benjamin Franklin auditorium on the night of May 11 for a religious play. The use of the auditorium was granted.

After considering the request of F. A. Staley for the use of the Taggart Stadium for a professional football game, sometime in October, the athletic council notified the board that it would lease the stadium for one game for $1200. The board adopted the recommendation of the athletic council and Mr. Staley will be notified of the price.

S. G. Ligo, superintendent of buildings and grounds was authorized to inspect the playgrounds adjoining the senior high school and to prepare a recommendation for the improvement of it and the elimination of the dust evil there.

Teacher Transfer Is Made By Board

Decision Also Made On Rate Of Payment For Substitute
Teachers

At the regular meeting of the New Castle school board Wednesday night, Miss Katherine Lienert, an adjustment class teacher in the Oak street school, was transferred back to academic subjects, and in her place Miss Ina Rosenberg was named to handle the adjustment work.

Bills were authorized in the amount of $6,048.19 for materials of various kinds.
Substitute teachers who are called in the future will be paid for not less than half a day's service, the board decided. It has been customary to call substitutes for one quarter of a day's service in the past but the board believes that any teacher who wants a substitute for her place should expect to be off at least half a day.
